YOUTH AND AGE.

When all the world is young, lad, and every thing is green,
And every goose a swan, lad, and every lass a Queen,
Then boot, lad, and horse, lad, and round the world away.
And go it while you're young, lad—each dog must have his day.

When all the world gets old, lad, and all the trees turn brown,
And all the jests get stale, lad, and all the wheels run down,
Then hie back to thy home, lad—the maimed and sick among;
Thank God if then you find one face you loved when you were young.
—Charles Kingsley.

WIDOW'S BILL

Has Passed the House—Principle of Congressman Bennett's Bill to Equalize the Pension of Soldiers' Widows Enacted Into Law

A bill equalizing the pensions of deceased soldiers and sailors was passed by the House of Representatives of the United States Monday, February 3d, 1908. This bill provides that all widows now on the pension roll shall be increased to $12 per month without making application for increase. This is certainly an excellent piece of legislation and one that should have received the attention of Congress long ago. Under existing law widows of soldiers who drew their pension under the General Law and could establish that the soldier died from disabilities contracted in the service were entitled to a pension of $12 per month, and those who could not establish this fact and those whose husbands drew under the Act of June 27th, 1890, were only entitled to $8 per month.

Congressman Bennett of our district during the 59th Congress introduced a bill to equalize the pensions of widows, and has had same pending all the time, and has worked hard for its passage. He reintroduced this bill the 1st of December in the 60th Congress and it was taken up a few days ago by the Committee on Pensions and favorably reported to the House and it has now passed the House and there is no question but what it will meet with the same success in the Senate.

"The Square Deal Man,"

HEY, RUBE!

The Hayseed Carnival at The Princess a Howling Success

One of the most amusing and successful of all the big doings at the Princess Rink this winter was that of the "Rube Carnival" last Friday evening. The big skatatorium was crowded to the walls with onlookers while 200 merry makers diked out in hayseed togs of every kind and description made a picturesque spectacle. There were bales of hay and shocks of real fodder and all kinds of rural decorations which gave a setting of "down on the farm" to the unique affair.

A detailed description of the "Rube," both male and female, would fill a book, suffice it to say that they each looked their part and had a barrel of fun.

TOO MUCH LINEN NEWS

To be adequately told at a single time. Yesterday's installment of Napkins and Towels was of prime importance to every housekeeper. Today's items will equally repay attention.

Damask Sets.

Table cloth and twelve napkins in match patterns comprise the set. The table cloth dimensions are for round, square and oblong tables as follows—

2½ by 2½ yards.

2½ by 3 yards.

2½ by 3½ yards.

2½ by 4 yards.

Price for set, according to size and quality, $5 to $25. Many of the cloths have fancy centers woven in the damask, making a separate center piece unnecessary. The Napkins are 22 inches square. Designs are exclusive—only one of a kind.

Dress Linens

No need to tell the well informed woman how popular white and colored linen suits will be this summer. Plain, braided, embroidered, lace or Hamburg trimmed, they hold foremost place in tub frocks whether as coat, shirtwaist or dressy suits.

Colored Linens, 19c, 39c, 49c Yard.

AND if every army officer must be able to take a six-bar fence, and a hospital ship must be commanded by a doctor, shall the Bureau of Internal Revenue be presided over by a Commissioner who can't drink six fingers of moonshine "licker" or lead a raid on an illicit still?—Courier-Journal.

WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN is dee-lighted with President ROOSEVELT's last shot at the trust octopuses, and in a recent interview the eminent Nebraskan said:

"ROOSEVELT has rendered a service to his country that no Republican appreciates as I do. His services to his party is of incalculable good, for he has played the part of an honest reformer, and the reformer is the salt that seasons and saves his party."

A LETTER from GEORGE WASHINGTON, discussing the building of a distillery at Mt. Vernon, has just come into the possession of Dr. L. D. CARMAN, of the medical division of the Pension Office. It is written to one of WASHINGTON's neighbors, but just which one Dr. CARMAN has not determined. The immortal GEORGE was evidently very dry, as the letter stated that he was in much haste to complete his distillery. Must have been glorious old times when every fellow had a whole distillery of his own.

Personal

Rev. E. H. Roseberry of Sardis was a visitor in the city Saturday.

Mr. John T. Smith, the cigarist, is in Cincinnati today on business.

Judge James P. Harbeson passed through the city yesterday en route to Brooksville to hold Court.

WOULDN'T it be the irony of Fate and retributive Justice if BEACH HARGIS should be acquitted of the murder of his father, Judge JAMES HARGIS? And why not a "Special Judge" a la Beckham to turn loose the degenerate son?

SEVERAL hundred million tons of ice have passed down the Ohio this week. And just think, too, how much ice is needed in the South. Here are millions of dollars going to waste every winter just for the want of an ice man what is an ice man.

VERILY, it can be trumpeted from the Tennessee to the Big Sandy that the Hargises and the Hagers and the Haleys are passing from the stage of pernicious activity in old Kentucky with a rush that is alarming, but satisfactory. The sooner the quicker.

JUDGE TAFT evidently has votes to throw at the birds. He generously gave the vote of New York to Governor HUGHES, and now he has consented that the vote of New England shall go uninstructed to the Chicago Convention. This unheard of prodigality in politics passeth the understanding of the average hill billy. In the meantime the genial Secretary wears the Taft smile and laughs the Taft laugh that is both catching and musical.

A CHANGE OF PROGRAM.

Tom—Did you and that girl you were engaged to last summer get married?
Jack—Yes, but we are not living together.
Tom—Why? What's the trouble?
Jack—Oh, no trouble at all. She married another man and I married another girl.

SOCIETY OF EQUITY

Board of Control Meeting Saturday
---Election of Officers---Suits
Filed---Other Items of Interest

At a meeting of the Board of Control, held in their office in this city Saturday, S. A. Shanklin was elected President of said Board to fill a vacancy created by the death of Dr. John A. Reed, and E. T. Kirk was chosen Vice-President in consequence of Mr. Shanklin having been elevated to the higher position.

In order to accommodate tenants who contemplate moving to new places this spring, arrangements were made to receive tobacco in this city in about two weeks.

Six thousand acres were reported signed up not to raise a 1908 crop, leaving about one thousand acres yet to be signed. The meeting was well attended and those present were hopeful that conditions would change for the better in due season.

Friday the Society of Equity instituted suit against Frank Strode of the Orangeburg Precinct seeking to recover the sum of $250 damages for the violation on the part of Strode of his contract of pooling. According to the petition Strode had pooled his tobacco with the Society—his one half consisting of about 2,500 pounds—and which tobacco he recently sold to the American Tobacco Company, receiving about $250 therefor. The damages alleged consists of the injury done to plaintiff and those producers of tobacco who signed similar contracts upon the faith that they would be kept and thereby procure fair, remunerative compensation for the labor and capital expended in producing tobacco. Many other items of damages are specified.

Attorney for the Society is also preparing another damage suit similar to the Strode case against a farmer in the Lewisburg Precinct who has sold his pooled tobacco.

Judge W. F. Howe of Fleming claims the honors on his crop of tobacco. On nine acres he raised 18,120 pounds and sold it for $2,363.20.

W. E. Smith won the championship of Maysville Saturday night over Dunn and Tolle. Smith got the start and kept it. Tolle and Dunn fought for second place for ten laps. Tolle fell in tenth lap.

DR. J. N. McCORMACK

Before the Mason County Medical Society and at the Opera-House. Two Spelled Lectures.

The meeting of the Mason County Medical Society in G. A. R. Hall Saturday afternoon was addressed by Dr. J. N. McCormack, Secretary of the State Board of Health, who talked along lines for the special edification of Doctors. Among other things he spoke of the necessity of Medical organization; the giving of best service to the people which in return gave pleasure and profit to the practitioner; that fully one-half the Doctors in the United States are in actual want, and that they are consequently not able to provide themselves with the necessary equipment to give their patients the good services to which they are entitled. He said they should get together and sharpen their minds by discussion and debate with each other on medicine and surgery, and in this way the doctor gains in intelligence and good fellowship.

The lack of interest shown by the local fraternity was evidenced by the number of doctors present at the meeting. Of the thirty-four doctors in the city and county, twelve were present—Drs. Crain, Ford and Hunter from the county, and Drs. Adamson, Brand, Cooper, Ellis, Harover, Stevens, Taulbee, Taylor and Yazell from the city.

Dr. McCormack's address in the Washington Opera-house at night was attended by about three hundred, who listened attentively to the interesting speaker. He was introduced to his audience by County Attorney T. D. Slattery.

The funeral of Mrs. Leslie Hill took place yesterday afternoon from the residence of ex-Mayor Hill in Aberdeen with services by Rev. W. H. Davenport. Interment in Charter Oak Cemetery.

IT'S GOVERNOR COX NOW

Another Man From Maysville Real Chief Executive of Old Kentucky During Willson Absence

Frankfort, Ky., February 8th—Lieutenant Governor William H. Cox took over the reins of government this afternoon at 4 o'clock, at which hour Governor Willson left Louisville for Washington. Governor Willson will be out of the state for several days, possibly until next Saturday, and Mr. Cox will act as the Chief Executive during his absence. Senator Conn Linn, President pro tem of the Senate, by virtue of his office, becomes Lieutenant Governor of the State during the absence of the Governor. He will preside over the Senate, and the peculiar situation of Kentucky having a Republican Governor and a Democratic Lieutenant Governor is noted.

Governor Willson will attend a dinner at Washington to be given to the Judges of the Court of Appeals by Justice Harlan, and will be one of the principal speakers at the Lincoln Day banquet in New York City.

Governor Cox will not create any sensation during the absence of Governor Willson. Some of the Democratic papers have been suggesting that Governor Cox might pardon Caleb Powers and Jim Howard, and he takes this as an affront and said today:

WILL TAKE NO ACTION.

"During the time I have been in the Legislature I have voted for more Democratic legislation than Republican legislation, and anybody that has any sense at all who knows me ought to know that I am not going to pardon Caleb Powers or Jim Howard during the absence of Governor Willson. When Governor Willson has time he will consider their cases."

THE PRICE OF LOVE

By MANTON VERISE

(Copyright, by Daily Story Pub. Co.)

They were both there, when the August sun delicately colored the eastern sky with his wonderful brush, and so their stranger eyes met, and conquered. Without bothering with the formalities of social life, he spoke gaily:

"Surely the world has grown young again with the rising sun."

"The world is more fortunate than we, for it grows young each day, while we become older."

He smiled, such a fascinating smile as she, country girl that she was, had never seen before, motioning to a seat on a great rock.

"There is a dawn which comes to some that makes the old young again. It washes clean the slate of life, brings those who understand into paradise, of perhaps but a day, but that day is worth a lifetime."

The blood surged in her veins, but she asked wonderingly:

"What is that dawn?"

"The dawn of love," he replied promptly, his eyes seeking hers.

Once more the blood throbbed in the girl's veins, and ran madly to the roots of her hair, while he asked, half mockingly:

"Has that dawn come to you?"

She shook her head, whispering:

"I want to see it."

"Do you? It is a lovely sight and experience. I would like to see your face soften and grow beautiful under its magic light," he continued, laying his white hand upon the brown one of the girl. "I will tell you of one. Imagine a lovely face, crowned with golden hair."

She was delighted that her hair was golden.

"A broad, low brow, beneath which are set like twin stars eyes of violet hue, heavily fringed with black lashes. Imagine me gazing into those eyes," here his arm stole about her waist, "until I can see the soul hiding there."

The black lashes dropped over the violet eyes until they were hidden.

"Imagine," went on the deep, fascinating voice of the speaker, "my glance calling into being a glorious bluish like the sun's illuminating rays, and my drawing to my shoulder the little head of gold until the moment's shyness passed. Then, just as I felt that the rays my heart had sent out were penetrating the cold mists of maiden innocence and ignorance of the magical noontide of love, I would lift the dimpled chin and press my lips upon the dewy ones, so close to my own, then, darling, do you think you could imagine a dawn of love?"

His ardent kisses left but little to the imagination. Her heart beat madly, her eyes flashed, for she understood, this girl of sixteen, the mystery of love.

"I could keep on kissing you forever," the man whispered.

"I am willing," was her half-laughing reply, and like two children, hand in hand, they wandered away into the adjoining woods and, sitting on the soft grass, they joined with the birds and wild flowers in perfect enjoyment of the wonderful day.

Above them the birds sang; the water of a brook rippled and the sun smiled down upon them. Their love-making was so sweet and yet so natural. They, the one man and the one woman in all the world. The lives they had lived prior to this day seemed dreams, already forgotten. Again and again she whispered:

"I want to know another life, I will never go back," and he held her closer in his arms and would not think ahead, but stilled the scarlet lips with mad kisses.

It was a day she felt was worth a lifetime of suffering. To have once reached the apex of happiness, though it last but for the day, was worth an eternity of sober living. Yet, when the twilight came, the birds ceased singing, the waters no longer rippled, but surged angrily towards the falls, for he left her.

The man's farewell was so like him and his sex. She knew it, with the knowledge which had come of this day of love.

"My precious one, good-by. I'm cruel, but I must leave you. I can never come back, so tell me if I have made you happy?"

"More so than I ever thought possible, and I you!"

"You have given me a day in paradise," he returned, kissing her again. "Some might marry you, but I will not. Out of all the days of my life I have had one perfect one, and I will not destroy it by marriage."

"You need not," she whispered in return. "I am willing to pay the price. You have compressed within this day all that life can ever give," and she smiled an unearthly smile, so sweet, so tender was it.

For a long time after he was gone she lay upon the ground until she had absorbed all she knew and felt, then, with that same strangely sweet look in her eyes, she slowly mounted the bridge. Her day had been short, but so happy that she dared not lose one second of it by living another. With all of her wonderful memories, she must leave the past behind her. Smiling, looking like some silver goddess in the moonlight, she folded her hands upon her breast and, with his name upon her lips, she fell forward and was borne away by the rushing waters.

By-Product of Match Factory.

One match factory on the Pacific coast, covers 240 acres and operates over 30 miles of railroad, over which is carried to it daily 200,000 feet of sugar pine and yellow pine logs for the match machines. Inferior lumber will not do. It must be straight-grained and free from knots and carefully treated in addition. The by-product goes into larger things. This factory turns out as by-product a thousand doors and 800 window sashes daily.

She Saw Her.

"The late Clara Bloodgood," said a theatrical manager of Chicago, "was witty as she was talented and beautiful. Sometimes, indeed, her keen wit carried her rather far."

"I remember once, at a tea at the Auditorium, a remark that the brilliant actress made to a society woman."

"You were at Bar Harbor, I believe, in the summer?" said the society woman.

"Yes," said the actress.

"And did you see much of my daughter there?"

"Rather," was the answer. "She wore a bathing suit in the morning, riding bloomers in the afternoon and low neck at night."

Don't Be Left Handed.

It has been estimated that about one boy out of 15 is left-handed when he reaches the age of ten. This is his mother's fault in not making him use his right hand more during his babyhood. In Germany there are schools where the boy is taught to be right-handed. Nearly all tools are made for right-handed men, and the boy who grows up left-handed will be awkward.

If one can use both hands alike he has an advantage in some things; but it seems as if nature intended the right arm to do most of the work.

Grain as a Weight.

The name "grain" as a weight originated in a curious way. The old English pound was equivalent to "the weight of 7,680 grains of wheat, taken from the middle of the ear." This gives 480 to each of the 16 ounces of which the pound was composed. Although the standard is now entirely different, the fact that there are still 480 grains to the ounce Troy and the ounce apothecaries' weight carries us back to the time of the Conquest, and shows us how the name grain originated.

The Hargis Obsequies Suggested
Many Pathetic Features—Son
Realizes Awfulness of His Crime

With the interment of the body of Judge James Hargis near Jackson Saturday afternoon, the last chapter was written to this strange and eventful career.

The remains were taken from Jackson to the Hargis Cemetery on a hill overlooking the Kentucky river and several miles from Jackson and the funeral was held from the old Hargis home.

The coffin containing the remains of Judge Hargis rested in a room near the bed upon which the old mother lay, prostrated with grief, while the aged minister performed the last offices of the Church for his deceased friend.

The Masonic Order and the Junior Order of the American Mechanics held impressive ceremonies at the grave.

A wagon load of flowers and floral designs were deposited on the grave.

The graveyard covers about one-eighth of an acre and is enclosed by a plank fence. It contains but five graves. In addition to the newly-made mound which marks the tomb of Judge Hargis, the sodden mounds and marble slabs witness the last resting place of Senator John Hargis, the father, and of Ben and John Hargis, younger brothers, and Duda Sewell, half brother, all of whom were called to their last account without a moment's warning.

SON ASKS TO SEE BODY.

Beach Hargis, confined in Jail for the murder of his father, asked Saturday to be allowed to see his dead father. Govan Smith, Town Marshall of Jackson, accompanied by Dr. W. P. Hogg, brother-in-law of Hargis, and William Day, his uncle, took the young man to his residence, where the father lay in his coffin.

Present when young Hargis entered were those named above and Mrs. Hargis, the widow, Floyd Day, Mrs. Evaline Hogg, daughter of the dead man, and Mrs. Day, mother-in-law of Judge Hargis.

When Beach entered the room he went directly to his father's coffin and knelt down arose and walked across the room, stood for a moment, then returned to his father's coffin. He put his hands on the dead man's face, burst into sobs and said, "Lordy, Lordy," then turned and went out of the room without speaking to anyone. He was then taken back to Jail.

Beauchamp Cooper Hargis (Beach) will be put on trial today at Jackson before County Judge Taubee charged with the murder of his father, Judge James Hargis, whom he shot to death last Thursday afternoon. He alleges self defense and his mother will back him with a large sum of money in the endeavor to free him.

ALL matter for publication must be handed in before 5 o'clock a. m.

The Executive Committee of the Union League of the Christian Endeavor will meet at the First Baptist Church this evening at 7 o'clock.

SATURDAY'S BALLOT.

Beckham..... 14
Bradley..... 7

There was no regular ballot or joint session of the Legislature Saturday in the United States Senatorial race, both Houses having adjourned Friday until Monday.

The supporters of former Governor W. O. Bradley are claiming that he will certainly be elected United States Senator. Only twenty-one votes were cast at joint session. The vote stood: Beckham, 14; Bradley, 7.

A ballot of more significance will be cast today at noon and the break from Beckham may begin this week.

JAMES C. OWENS.

James C. Owens, whose illness has been noted in The Ledger, died this morning at his home near the Fairgrounds, aged 66 years.

He was a son of the late Theoderic and Eliza Curtis Owens, and was born near Germantown June 22d, 1842.

At one time he was one of Maysville's leading and active merchants, and was a clever, genial gentleman.

Surviving him are his wife Maria Collins, only surviving child of the late Judge Lewis Collins, three children, Maxie, Ross and Maria, three brothers, John, Powell and Theoderic, two sisters, Miss Eliza Owens and Mrs. Charles E. Peers. Funeral Tuesday at 1 o'clock, by Rev. F. W. Harrop, at his late residence. Interment in Maysville Cemetery.

MRS. JOSIE LEE DEARING.

Mrs. Josie Lee Dearing, aged 41, wife of M. T. Dearing, formerly of this vicinity, but more recently of Chicago, Ill., who died last Monday in that city, was buried yesterday in the family burial ground at Flemingsburg. Mrs. Dearing was a daughter of Marshall Lee of Fleming county, also a niece of our City Councilman, J. Wesley Lee. She was a sister of Mrs. John H. Dersch and of Miss Bessie Lee.

Her death was a most sad one in that she leaves an infant boy, besides three other children, to mourn the loss of mother. A large concourse of sorrowing friends and relatives followed her remains to their last resting place, many being from Maysville, where she was well known and quite popular and generally beloved.

MRS. JOHN MALONEY.

Mrs. John Maloney died at her home in Mayslick Saturday night at 12 o'clock with cancer of the stomach, aged 80 years.

She was born in County Tipperary, Ireland, and came to in Kentucky 1848.

She was preceded to the grave by her husband 29 years ago. Ten children—seven daughters and three sons survive.

Funeral tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock from Mayslick Catholic Church. Interment at Washington.

JOHN SLACK.

Mr. John Slack was taken suddenly sick here in town Friday and died last night at the home of his brother-in-law, Mr. Frank Kerr, on Jersey Ridge. He was about sixty years old and unmarried. Funeral tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock from the house. Interment at Washington.

WANTED

Every Person in Maysville to Know What Vinol is and How it is Made.

For some time we have recommended Vinol to the people of Maysville as the best cod liver preparation and tonic reconstructor we have ever sold.

To prove the reliability and genuineness of this successful remedy and that it is in no sense a patent medicine, the people of Maysville will find on every package of Vinol not only a statement of the ingredients Vinol contains, but an illustration in colors showing just how Vinol is made from fresh cod's livers and peptonate of iron, which is a needful constituent for the blood.

This proves in a very convincing manner to the people of Maysville the origin from which Vinol derives its wonderful curative power, and that it is a real cod liver preparation made by a scientific process which eliminates the useless oil and retains all the active medicinal principles.

As a body builder and strength creator for old people, delicate children, weak, run-down persons, after sickness, and for chronic coughs, colic, bronchitis and all throat and lung troubles, Vinol is unexcelled.

Try it on our offer to return your money if it fails.

Maysville Has to Bow to the Inevitable—Scores of Citizens Prove It.

After reading the public statement of this representative citizen of Maysville, given below, you must come to this conclusion: A remedy which cured years ago, which has kept the kidneys in good health since, can be relied upon to perform the same work in other cases. Read this:

John Wallingford, living at the corner of Commerce and East Second streets, Maysville, Ky., says:

"I first procured Doan's Kidney Pills in 1899 and they relieved me of an attack of backache which had annoyed me for some time. My wife at that time gave for publication in our local papers a statement telling of the great benefit I had derived from Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at J. Jas. Wood & Son's Drugstore, and now, five years later, I can say that the cure then effected has been complete and permanent. My back and kidneys have never given me the least cause for complaint. Mrs. Wallingford also appreciates the value of Doan's Kidney Pills from personal experience with them. She suffered most acutely with backache, especially at night, and Doan's Kidney Pills promptly and thoroughly cured her."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents a box; Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.
